

"Readjustment." "The readjustment of business" is the President's phrase. Oil and Tobacco have been readjusted and so has Union Pacific. About sixty civil and criminal proceedings against other monopolistic enterprises are pending. Some businesses have refused to be readjusted, because they have held that good lawbreakers need no such discipline. Others have clung to the idea that in the course of time they would be able to readjust the people and the Government of the United States.

"Readjustment" is the kindest word ever used by a President. Those in need of it may supply it themselves peaceably and profitably, or, failing in that, they may get it in dissolutions, fines or penitentiary sentences, if they prefer. It is readjustment that is coming.

Wilson In 1916 Mr. Wilson's administration is nine months old. The Roanoke Times never has given the president its unrestrained admiration. Like many thousands of others in the country, we held him under discerning observation. Yet, beyond all question, he has done great work and there is full reason to believe that he will do more and do it right. If the continues as he has begun the country will know and trust him in 1916; and there will be no sense in putting forward a new human experiment to cause new anxiety, surmise, doubt and fear. If the president makes good through his four years the Democratic party will be criminally idiotic to disturb the public, endanger itself and take the risk of having all its work undone in obedience to a paragraph of empty and evident nonsense in a campaign platform—Roanoke Times.

Elizabeth Heary And Sally Campbell.

Tazewell, Va., Jan. 5.—Editor the News: I saw in the last Clinch Valley News a letter by "S." Mr. S. gets his notes so badly mixed in his criticism of what I wrote you sometime ago, that I will have to try to correct it.

S makes Mrs. Russell the niece of Governor Henry, and also that General Floyd married Sallie Campbell. Now, I have not the least unkind feeling towards Mr. S. no do I mean to be unkind when I say that neither of the statements are Historical facts. Elizabeth Henry was the sister of Patrick Henry, and in 1776 married General Wm. Campbell, and General Wm. Campbell and Elizabeth Henry Campbell were the parents of Sallie Campbell. Sallie Campbell could not have been but a few years old when her father died. Mrs. Campbell, the wife of General Wm. Campbell, and mother of Sallie Campbell, in 1783 married General Wm. Russell. Sallie Campbell married Francis Preston, and was the mother of Sallie B. Preston, who married John B. Floyd. These are historical facts.

Furthermore, I will say that I knew that Mrs. Preston had other daughters, but they were married and gone from the home at Abingdon before I was old enough to know anything about them. And I only write what I know to be true.
Governor Floyd's home was at Abingdon therefore I know them from childhood. I was going to school in Abingdon when John B. Floyd, by the Virginia Legislature, was elected Governor of Virginia, and by the way, the last man elected Governor by the legislature. Standing one day watching the stone masons building the stonewall in front of the Floyd home (now Stonewall Jackson Institute), I saw a large fine looking man coming up the street. Some one standing by said, "Yonder comes Governor Floyd." He stopped and talked very pleasantly a few minutes and went on to his home. That was the first Governor I had ever seen, and I thought he must be the greatest man in the world. And now, after a long and somewhat eventful life, looking back and calling to mind the great and good men that I have known, I can't say that I ever knew Gen. Floyd's superior. Mr. S. thinks I spell the name of Robinson wrong. Mr. Leslie if you will send a card to Frank S. Robinson, son of the Ex-Governor, Abingdon, Virginia ask him how his father spelled his name. Then when you hear from him if I am wrong I will apologize.

Freeling News

Freeling, Va., Jan. 14.—Wm. Kelly, doubtless the oldest man of Dickenson county, died on Thursday at the home of his son Harvey, near here. His exact age was not known, but the oldest people of this place remember him as an old man in their young days. He is thought to have been near a hundred years old at the time of his death. He joined the Primitive Baptist church more than a year ago. He was so helpless at the time of receiving baptism that he had to be carried into the water in a chair. He was a private in the Union army during the war between the states.

Against Spitting.

A Public Health League has been formed in Pittsburgh and a few other cities, consisting wholly of women, the object of which league is to enforce the ordinance against spitting on the sidewalks of the city. Such a League might well be organized in every small town with good results.

The Bristol Herald-Courier says:

"Spitting on the sidewalks is not only a filthy habit, but it is a dangerous practice—as filthy and as dangerous as spitting on the floor of a postoffice or hotel lobby or street car. It spreads disease. Therefore most cities have a law against spitting on the sidewalk, but it is rarely if ever enforced. Policemen do not arrest men for violating this law, probably because it seems too trivial a matter to be treated seriously. But policemen are mistaken, if they take that view of it. Even if the practice were not more or less of a menace to the public health it is indecent and ought to be discouraged through prohibitory ordinances. It is a work for which women are really better fitted than men. There are several reasons why men hesitate to report persons for spitting on the sidewalks, none of which need stand in the way of women. A Public Health League in every city, composed of women sincerely interested in the purpose of the organization, would soon make effective an important ordinance which now is a dead letter.

A Difficult Subject.

One of the most difficult subject to be taught in our schools is history. The importance or value of the faithfulness in teaching or the study of history is very useful. It enlightens us how our present system of government came into existence. It informs the individual how to the citizens or patriots, who was born with the rights of Englishman contended for these rights, rebelled against tyranny and set up a government for the people and by people. The study of history will produce a crop of intelligent citizens, for no representative government can be run without its citizens learn well the importance of respecting the inherent rights of others. It will inspire the student to a high sense of honor. Enable him to see the relation he bears to his home, father, mother, his country and his God. Now, fellow teachers to whom the honor, the integrity, the wealth, and the care of nursing, developing, and training human souls have been entrusted, let us be faithful in the teaching the history of our country. Remember you are doing constructive work, laying the foundation for a future type of citizenship. Bear in mind your work is more worthy, honorable, sacred, perhaps, than those who have been entrusted to make our laws. Cavitt's Creek graded school, January 12th, 1914. J. W. Blankenbeckler, Principal.

WOMAN'S ADVANTAGE.

From the Cincinnati Enquirer: A woman can take a plume and wear it on one side of her hat one day, on the other side another day, on the front of her hat another day and on the back another day. She can wear it curled round the rim, under the rim, across the crown or straight up in the air. But if a man happens to put his hat on with the rear end in front he looks like a durn fool.

TEMPERANCE NOTES

(Conducted by the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union.)

NO INCREASE IN DRINKING.

The internal revenue report for 1913 has been widely commented upon by the press, its figures being generally accepted as proof of an increase in drinking, "notable," "alarming," "shameless," according to the point of view of the commentator. We do not challenge the accuracy of the report, but we do maintain that the press of the country has given it too hasty consideration, and that the public has too readily accepted the conclusions of the newspapers. The figures given are true as far as they go, but it is not the province of the internal revenue commission to explain those figures. The National W. C. T. U., through its bureau of publicity, sends out the following explanation:

First, with regard to distilled liquors, it is not so generally known as it should be that the figures of the government report are based on the number of gallons withdrawn by wholesalers from the bonded warehouses, and that the amount for any one year may or may not represent the actual consumption for that year. It happens that for the year just closed the amount withdrawn does not represent actual consumption. To the average reader the situation is somewhat confusing, but it is easily explained. Under the law liquor may remain in bond not longer than eight years. At the expiration of that time it must be removed from the government warehouses whether there is demand for it or not. During the year covered by the 1913 report a large amount was, it is stated, thrown upon the market because the bonding period had expired. The fact that such a large quantity remained in bond until forced out by the time limit is sufficient proof that the sale of spirituous liquors has been decreasing.

When the liquor is taken from the bonded warehouses the government tax is paid, and it is then officially recorded as "consumed." The truth of the matter is that much liquor reported as "consumed" from June 30, 1912, to June 30, 1913, is now stored in private warehouses waiting a demand. Those who understand the state of affairs have expected just such a showing as that now put out by the internal revenue department. They have expected, too, that it would be generally interpreted as meaning a "marked increase in drinking." They know that while an unusual amount of liquor was withdrawn last year from the bonded warehouses it by no means follows that all of it went down the throats of American citizens. Second, there is more or less juggling of official figures by liquorites. Desiring (in their effort to discredit the so-called "reform wave") to make the per capita increase appear large, they have a way of bunching together the figures referring to all kinds of liquors, distilled and malt. And newspapers have a way of repeating without investigation this manifestly unjust estimate. For example, some "wet" authority states that the per capita amount of liquor consumption has risen in twenty years from 15 gallons to 21 gallons (this, of course including all liquor on which tax has been paid), and the misleading statement goes the rounds.

Third, in view of these facts it is clear that there are more total abstainers and more prohibitionists in this country than ever before, and—granting for the sake of argument the increasing consumption—that drinkers are drinking more than ever before. It is one of the characteristics of alcohol to increase the desire for itself, so we may expect the moderate drinker (or his children) to become the excessive drinker and the excessive drinker to become more excessive. It isn't from the number of gallons of liquor consumed that one judges of the nearness of nation-wide prohibition, but from the rapidly growing prohibition sentiment and consequent number of prohibition votes throughout the country. The liquor interests are trying desperately to hide the fact that there is a losing cause. In their journals and in their conventions their utterances are doleful and warningful, and in the stock market there is marked shrinkage in the value of liquor securities. Pessimism in the liquor camp, optimism among the prohibitionists—this, despite the internal revenue report for 1913, is the situation today.

VITAL QUESTION.

There is not, at the present day, any question which so deeply touches the moral, the physical, and the religious welfare of the world as the question of temperance.—Lord Chancellor Cairns.

DRINKERS NOT WANTED.

The United States census bureau reports that nearly every industry is discriminating against the hiring of drinking men. The figures are: Agriculturists 72 per cent. Manufacturers 79 per cent. Trades 88 per cent. Railroads 90 per cent.

SHIFTS RESPONSIBILITY.

The man who takes the drink never takes the consequences; they are borne by his family, his employer and his grocer.

SAVES DAUGHTER

Advice of Mother no Doubt Prevents Daughter's Untimely End.

Ready, Ky.—"I was not able to do anything for nearly six months," writes Mrs. Laura Bratcher, of this place, "and I was down in bed for three months. I cannot tell you how I suffered with my head, and with nervousness and womanly troubles. Our family doctor told my husband he could not do me any good, and he had to give it up. We tried another doctor, but he did not help me. At last, my mother advised me to take Cardui, the woman's tonic. I thought it was no use for I was nearly dead and nothing seemed to do me any good. But I took eleven bottles, and now I am able to do all of my work and my own washing. I think Cardui is the best medicine in the world. My weight has increased, and I look the picture of health."

If you suffer from any of the ailments peculiar to women, get a bottle of Cardui today. Delay is dangerous. We know it will help you, for it has helped so many thousands of other weak women in the past 50 years.
